Challenge 5: Rethink Your Facilities for Emerging Opportunities

1. Many church leaders are beginning to see that their facilities can be a powerfully useful tool for ministry. But that can only happen with a change in _____

2. The post-quarantine church, then, has a vibrant opportunity to _____ how we use our facilities.

3. As the world emerges more completely from the quarantine and more activities resume, watch for a decreasing number of facility partnerships between churches and community.

- A. True
- B. False

4. What is the most common reason for churches avoiding relationships/partnerships with community organizations?

5. Historically, most church leaders have been comfortably sharing space with other non-profit organizations particularly if they have a complimentary mission. Provide some examples.

6. Church leaders must begin to realize that a facility partnership with a local organization is an avenue for the church to truly _____ its neighbors.

- A. Teach
- B. Avoid
- C. Attack
- D. Reach

7. When the church opens its doors to the community by making its buildings available for other uses, the _____ “comes to church.”

- A. Community
- B. Membership
- C. Leadership
- D. None of the above.

8. Many large churches built facilities capable of seating thousands in a single worship service. These churches were often touted as among the best in the world. Then there was a shift. Please explain the cultural religious shift.

9. A number of leaders realized that the “usual way” of conducting worship service was for a bygone era. Two or three hours on Sunday morning worked well in an agrarian society, but those days are long behind us now. Most churches today are not populated by

_____.

- A. Seniors
- B. Farmers
- C. Merchants
- D. Children

10. Perhaps the most basic and obvious conclusion to be drawn from the pandemic is that it gave church leaders an opportunity to rethink

_____.

- A. Something
- B. Anything
- C. Nothing
- D. Everything
